Press release

Issued by chocoMe

October 19, 2016 - Budapest/London

In 2016 one of chocoMe's Raffinée flavours became world champion - for a second time chocoMe was awarded with it's second gold medal at the world's most prestigious international professional competition, the International Chocolate Awards in the world finals and was officially given the title: the world's best milk chocolate dragee made with nuts. As always the world championship finals and award ceremony was held in London at The Chocolate Show event.

The award-winning product:

Piemonte hazelnut covered in ground Ethiopian Harrar coffee and hazelnut flavoured milk chocolate (RF110)

At the East-European regional finals which was held only a few weeks ago we also won a Gold Medal with this Raffinée product, which was a promising turn of events foreshadowing that we may be amongst the finalists at the world event. But I did not dare to hope for such a great success that after last year's victory (when we received the honourable title of the best white chocolate dragee made with nuts) we will win a Gold Medal yet again - said Gábor Mészáros, chocoMe's founder and owner. chocoMe increased the number of it's international professional recognitions to 32 with this latest award.

The jury of the world finals in London consisted of the most prestigious foreign chocolate makers, gastronomy experts, sommeliers and chefs: George Gensler, Manhattan Chocolate Society (US), Nancy Gilchrist, Master of Wine (UK), Monica Meschini, chocolate/tea tester, sommelier (Italy), Maricel Presilla, chef, restaurateur, author (US), Ecole Chocolat Professional School of Chocolate Arts (US), a "The Well-Tempered Chocolatier" (Canada) and many others. The head of the jury and the founder of the award Martin Christy, editor of the authoritative chocolate website Seventy% - who is held today as one of the worlds greatest chocolate experts.

We'd like to congratulate the other participants and champions!
